MESSAGE TO SHARKS TERRITORY

Sharks Sports & Entertainment was honored to incorporate fans, donors and non-profits in our annual Giving Campaign and fundraising efforts throughout the 2023-24 season. Thanks to the support of our corporate partners, benefactors, volunteers, board members, and Team Teal staff, the Sharks Foundation donated $900,805 and impacted 282,463 lives throughout the year. In addition, we reached 28,328 youth through our interactive and engaging educational and fitness programs.

The Sharks hosted a variety of theme nights at home games to celebrate the diversity of the Bay Area population and highlighted a variety of cultural and ethnic groups. Furthermore, in the spirit of the leaguewide principle that hockey is for everyone, Sharks Sports & Entertainment's family of ice facilities supported the growth of the game by offering an extensive portfolio of opportunities that put hockey sticks in the hands of special needs and diverse players.

To see a sampling of what the Sharks accomplished in the community this season, watch the 2023-24 recap video here.

On behalf of all of Team Teal, we thank you for your unwavering support of our efforts and for your continued generosity.

Teal Together,

Heather Hooper

Director, Social Impact

In 1994, the Sharks Foundation was established as the official charitable arm of the San Jose Sharks. Since then, the Foundation has committed more than $20.2 million to the community through Community Assist Grants, programs, and projects including $900,805 dedicated across 44 high-performing non-profits during the 2023-24 season.

MISSION STATEMENT

The Sharks Foundation is dedicated to enhancing the lives of underserved youth and families in the community with an emphasis in the areas of education, health and safety, and character development. The Foundation supplies emergency aid when appropriate, executes unique and relevant programming, supports the advancement of youth hockey, and provides financial support and resources to organizations that enrich the lives of those in need.

SHARKS FOUNDATION GIVING

The Sharks Foundation’s expansive Giving Campaign focused on several causes throughout the season. Spanning from September 2023 to June 2024, the campaign identified a specific cause each month to support and featured key activations and monetary giving to non-profits that aligned with the focal area. The Giving Campaign included support from Sharks fans, players, coaches, broadcasters, executives, corporate partners, employees, and S.J. Sharkie.

MYSTERY PUCKS

Mystery Pucks are sold on the Concourse at designated home games and online throughout the season. Every puck is signed by a Sharks player and then wrapped so the player's identity remains a surprise.

The Foundation also offers a Mystery Puck Subscription program which gave fans the ability to pre-purchase the entire season's set, including a Mystery Holiday Ornament, for a flat rate at the start of the season. In addition to this year's four puck designs, subscribers received an exclusive San Jose Tribute puck. Pucks were shipped out prior to going on sale to the public, granting subscribers early and convenient access to each puck.

This year's Mystery Puck designs aligned with the cultural and theme nights and included: Los Tiburones, Warriors x Sharks, Lunar New Year, and Celebration of South Asian Culture

Mystery Pucks raised $133,300 to support the Sharks Foundation's fund-giving efforts.

PLAYER CARDS

The Player Card Series fundraiser included five sets of limited-edition 3" X 6" cards, each featuring a Sharks player. Adding to the fun, a select number of cards per set were autographed by the player himself, and a limited number of other cards featured a golden ticket that could be redeemed for a bonus item such as an autographed hat, stick, or other Sharks memorabilia. All cards were sealed in envelopes, maintaining the secret of what was inside. Player Cards were sold exclusively on the Concourse at designated home games at the Sharks Foundation Booth for $10 each.

This season's series featured: Logan Couture, Tomas Hertl, William Eklund, Mackenzie Blackwood, and Henry Thrun, and raised $10,000 for the Sharks Foundation.

TEAL TOGETHER

Teal Together is more than a Sharks Sports & Entertainment campaign. It's a rallying call for our organization as we strive to drive positive social change and foster more inclusive communities. The Sharks are committed to diversity, inclusion, and belonging in the sport of hockey and beyond, and believe everything we do should be accessible to everyone regardless of age, race, ethnicity, religion, sexual orientation, or gender. As part of that philosophy, the Sharks hosted various programs, events, and theme nights celebrating inclusion and our community.

LATINX & HISPANIC HERITAGE

The Sharks hosted their 7th annual Los Tiburones Night (LTN) presented by Milagro Tequila on October 14 to celebrate Hispanic heritage and the diverse culture of the Bay Area. Every fan in attendance received a luchador-inspired goalie mask; luchador masks play a significant role in the identity of professional wrestlers in Mexico which inspired the concept behind the Sharks goalie mask giveaway. The mask was designed by local artist Luis Guardado who also created the crest and shoulder patches for a set of custom Los Tibs specialty jerseys. The jerseys were autographed by Sharks players and auctioned by the Sharks Foundation, ultimately providing a $8,200 donation to Hispanic Foundation of Silicon Valley through generated net proceeds.

Festivities on LTN included pregame music and the Star-Spangled Banner being performed by local band Mariachi Tequila de San Jose. Concourse activations included arts and crafts with the help of folks from the Mexican Heritage Plaza, and a specially designed mural backdrop located at the South Entrance for fan photo opportunities. Intermission entertainment featured on-ice performances by the Grupo Folklorico Los Laureles. During the game, play-by-play of the action was broadcasted live in Spanish on the Sharks Audio Network, and Bay Area personality Amaury Pi-Gonzalez called the on-ice activity from inside SAP Center.

On October 23, the Sharks Foundation and SAP hosted a workshop for Latino Education Advancement Foundation at SAP Center and provided an $85,000 grant to launch their Career Exploration & Discovery Program to offer enhanced support to Latinx students in East San through comprehensive assistance for college enrollment and career pathways. The event featured a panel of Team Teal and SAP speakers, a career fair on the North Concourse, complimentary headshots taken by the Sharks team photographer, information on a variety of Sharks intern and fellowship programs, and onsite hiring for open Sharks Sports & Entertainment and Aramark positions. Additionally, SAP employees hosted tables to extend resume and LinkedIn profile reviews.

HOCKEY FIGHTS CANCER

presented by

During the November Hockey Fights Cancer (HFC) campaign presented by Kaiser Permanente, the Sharks Foundation's fundraising efforts were focused on providing financial support to cancer-related organizations. In celebration of the 25th anniversary of the leaguewide initiative, every non-profit that applied for a 23-24 Community Assist Grant under the HFC focal area received a $2,500 donation. On November 8, the Foundation and Kaiser presented a $20,000 grant to the Jessie Rees Foundation who encourages every kid fighting cancer to Never Ever Give Up and provides JoyJars filled with toys, games, and cheerful gifts to pediatric oncology patients. In addition to the funding, reps from Team Teal and Kaiser packed 500 JoyJars, with players Giovanni Smith, Mario Ferraro, and Oskar Lindblom delivering some of them to Kaiser Permanente Santa Clara that same afternoon. During their visit, the players wore custom jerseys from a set of HFC specialty sweaters which were later auctioned by the Sharks Foundation and raised $4,500 for Jacob's Heart Children's Cancer Support Services.

On November 16, the Sharks hosted their HFC Night presented by Kaiser Permanente where the all-arena giveaway was an "I Fight For" roll-up banner. Sharks team sponsors changed out their logos to an all-lavender version, the official color of the HFC campaign, to show their support. Some Sharks players wrapped their sticks with lavender tape during warm-ups, and S.J. Sharkie wore a special uniform featuring names of cancer warriors.

Pre-game, five courageous kids stood on the blue line with the starting lineup for a ceremony to acknowledge their heroic journeys with cancer. The honorees, Quinn (who also dropped the ceremonial puck), Davey, JJ, Charlotte, and Juan, also got to watch warm-ups from ice level, cheered on the Sharks from a suite, and participated in a post-game meet-and-greet with the players.

PRIDE

On August 27, members of Team Teal walked together in Silicon Valley Pride's annual Pride Parade alongside San Jose Barracuda players Brandon Coe and Ethan Cardwell, Barracuda Assistant Coach Kyle Hagel, mascots S.J. Sharkie and Frenzy, the Teal City Crew, and the San Francisco Earthquakes hockey team. Following the parade, the Cuda and Sharks sales teams, the Sharks Street Team presented by Coca-Cola, and the Sharks HR department hosted tables at the Pride Festival.

On January 24, the Sharks organization hosted its 2nd annual Team Teal and SF Earthquakes scrimmage at SAP Center for a friendly game of ice hockey coached by Sharks players Fabian Zetterlund and William Eklund. The Earthquakes are a LGBTQ+ friendly hockey team that brings together individuals throughout the Bay Area to play hockey no matter their skill level or experience.

On January 27, the Sharks Pride game offered a full-arena giveaway of a reversible rainbow bucket hat. Sharks team sponsors elected to have their logo changed out for a rainbow version to support the campaign, and some Sharks players wrapped their sticks with Pride tape during warm-ups. To kick-off the game, the ceremonial puck drop was performed by S.F. Earthquakes player Joey Marcacci.

Additionally, the Sharks Foundation auctioned a set of specialty Pride-themed jerseys designed by local artist Arely Cardenas, with strength, peace, and love as the inspiration behind the custom crest and patches. The set featured nameplates and signatures from Sharks alumni greats like Owen Nolan, Patrick Marleau, and Jonathan Cheechoo in addition to active roster players. Net proceeds provided a $7,400 donation to Side by Side's Our Space, a vibrant safe space for LGBTQIA+ young adults in Alameda and Marin counties.

LUNAR NEW YEAR

On February 17, the Sharks hosted their 2nd annual Lunar New Year Celebration Night. The all-arena giveaway was a Red Envelope which are traditionally given during Lunar New Year (LNY) and represents energy, happiness, and good luck. Other in-arena elements included a special performance by the Rising Phoenix Lion and Dragon Dance Association and a ceremonial puck drop by Councilmember Bien Doan from District 7 which covers Sharks Ice San Jose. Victoria Thuy Vi McDowell performed the National Anthem in traditional red garbs, and SAP Center provided special food offerings including San Jose eatery Serious Dumplings.

Local artist Julie Dang, a Vietnamese self-taught San Jose native, designed the 2024 Year of the Dragon-inspired crest and shoulder patches for a LNY specialty jersey which was auctioned by the Sharks Foundation to raise funds for Vitalant. Dang, who grew up celebrating Tet, incorporated colors influenced by Vietnamese folk art mixed with dramatic lines and shapes. Additionally, SharksProShop.com dropped a LNY collection with a variety of items and apparel featuring Dang's artwork.

WOMEN OF TEAL

On March 9, the Sharks kicked off Women's History Month by hosting a 2-part girls' hockey clinic at Tech CU Arena. The event was led by two-time hockey Olympic medalist and four-time world champion Megan Bozek Ferguson, and former NWHL Minnesota Whitecaps player, Taylor Turnquist.

In total, 77 Jr. Sharks girls from age groups 8U-14U spent the morning sharpening their on-ice skills while learning about Ferguson and Turnquist's journeys as accomplished female hockey players.

Later that afternoon, the Sharks hosted their Women of Teal game presented by Kaiser Permanente. The celebration started with a pregame panel focused on "Empowering Excellence - Leading Women in Sport," which was moderated by Sharks Content Contributor Tara Slone, and panelists included Megan Bozek Ferguson, S.J. Barracuda team doctor, Dr. Caitlin Rugg, and sports nutritionist for the San Jose Sharks, Ryann Thomison who later dropped the ceremonial first puck. As fans entered the arena, they received a shirsey featuring local artist Berni Palavecino Prado's California poppies-inspired design. The crest featured two sharks swimming in a symmetrical pattern which represents symbiotic movements between teammates on the ice. Throughout the game, female front office members were honored through scoreboard graphics and video highlights, bringing awareness and honor to the many women that help make Sharks Sports & Entertainment run. Additionally, some of the girls from that morning's clinic got to participate in a Blueline Buddies pre-game ceremony, and skate during a Future Sharks presented by Kaiser Permanente intermission.

CELEBRATION OF BLACK HISTORY

On February 29, the Sharks hosted their Celebration of Black History game. The all-arena giveaway was a poster designed by Sharks players Anthony Duclair, Givani Smith, and Justin Bailey, who wanted to honor Black hockey players that paved the way for their NHL careers. Other in-arena activations included a National Anthem performance from Sharks Ice instructor Reggie Mack, a spoken word performance by Grammy Nominated poet Prentice Powell, and a performance by Kuumba, a local West African dance organization.

Local artist and middle school art teacher Corbrae Smith designed this season's Celebration of Black History specialty jersey. Smith pulled inspiration from Hip Hop music by incorporating saturated colors like those used in graffiti art today. With the recent celebration of the 50th anniversary of Hip Hop, the crest references a time in the Black community where the music genre changed the trajectory of the industry. The shoulder patches incorporated a cassette tape and a shark fin saturated with pinks and yellows. The jerseys were auctioned by the Sharks Foundation with net proceeds benefiting African American Community Service Agency. The Sharks ProShop also featured a variety of items featuring Smith's design.

CELEBRATION OF SOUTH ASIAN CULTURE

On March 23, the Sharks held their Celebration of South Asian Culture night where the team partnered with UPMA to host their second annual Holi Celebration on Barack Obama Boulevard before doors opened. The festival welcomed 1,500+ people and featured performances from Bay Area Indian dance groups, DJs, and an appearance by Indian actress Tejasswi Prakash. Inside the arena, each fan in attendance received a Sharks-themed cricket shirsey as they entered the building. At the South Bar, musicians from Voice of Bay Area welcomed guests and featured a play by Rung Munch highlighting the Holi celebration. Other activations included on-ice dance performances by Gurus of Dance and artists offering fans complimentary Henna.

WISH FULFILLMENTS

HOSTING QUINN

Quinn, an 8-year-old Leukemia survivor, joined the Sharks during their November 2023 Hockey Fights Cancer (HFC) festivities. The Sharks Foundation first met Quinn in 2019 when they partnered with Dec My Room on a HFC project to renovate the pediatric outpatient infusion clinic at Kaiser Permanente Santa Clara into a warm and welcoming space for the youth it provides care to. Quinn, then just 4 years old, met with former Sharks and Barracuda players and had the honor of hanging the space's dedication plaque. Fast forward to exactly four years later, on November 6 Quinn was invited to a Sharks practice where her and her dad watched the action from the players' bench, got a surprise visit from S.J. Sharkie, and even enjoyed a post-practice snack in the locker room with Sharks Captain Logan Couture.

On November 16 during the Sharks' official HFC Night presented by Kaiser Permanente, Quinn stood with Fabian Zetterlund on the blueline in a custom jersey alongside four other pediatric cancer warriors for the starting line-up. After the ceremony, she dropped the puck at center ice. Quinn, her family, and all the cancer warriors and their loved ones were hosted in a catered suite to watch the game. Post-game, they were treated to a meet-and-greet with all the Sharks players who signed autographs and took photos with the guests.

ADDISON'S WISH

In January, the Sharks Foundation granted a wish for Addison Kypreos who was introduced to Team Teal through Shadow Jumpers, a non-profit that provides meaningful experiences to families suffering from sun-related conditions, diseases, and disorders. At a young age, Addison, now 12, was regularly in pain while outside; sometimes 5-10 minutes of exposure would leave her skin swollen, discolored, or burned. She was diagnosed with Erythropoietic Protoporphyrin, an inherited disorder resulting in the accumulation of protoporphyrins in red blood cells that causes painful photosensitivity. She continued to push boundaries by routinely going hiking, to summer camp, waterparks, and other outdoor activities, however in April 2022, she was diagnosed with Stage 5 liver failure resulting in a 7-month hiatus from playing her favorite sport, hockey. What is most apparent about the Kypreos family is not only their love for hockey, but specifically for Sharks hockey.

Addison was a very deserving candidate for an ultimate Sharks experience which started on January 19 when she was hosted at practice. She was greeted by S.J. Sharkie and the entire family was gifted custom jerseys. The Kypreos family watched practice from the bench and interacted with the players and coaching staff. Then Addison took the ice for some drills with the team, breaking in a new stick that was cut and customized by the Sharks equipment staff. Post-practice, the family got a locker room tour lead by Anthony Duclair and Justin Bailey during which Addison was surprised with a teal game jersey and the family received authentic Sharks gear.

The next day the Kypreos' showed up to SAP Center early to watch warm-ups from the bench. Prior to puck drop, Addison read the starting line-up in the locker room, and then the family cheered on the players as they took the ice. Addison participated in a Zamboni ride while her dad and brothers took part in an on-ice intermission game. Along the way they were treated to behind-the-scenes experiences like a Press Box tour where Addison even gave an interview to Sharks Audio Network broadcaster Dan Rusanowsky.

LUKE KUNIN T1D FUND AND TICKET PROGRAM

This season, Sharks forward Luke Kunin continued his Luke Kunin Type 1 Diabetes Fund (LKT1D) and ticket program with the help of the Sharks Community team. Kunin was diagnosed with Type 1 Diabetes (T1D) at age 12 and never let it stop him from achieving his dream of becoming a professional hockey player. In partnership with Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation Northern California (JDRFNC) and the Sharks, he hosted a family with a child impacted by T1D at nearly every Sharks home game during the season. Each guest received a goodie bag containing a LKT1D t-shirt and other items. Additionally, Kunin met with each family post-game to get to know them and answer questions about navigating T1D while playing sports.

On November 14 in honor of World Diabetes Day, Kunin and the Sharks Pro Shop launched the LKT1D Collection including a hoodie, hat, and other merchandise all featuring the unique Sharks-inspired logo and with 50% of sales going back to the LKT1D Fund. Including merchandise sales proceeds and other fundraising avenues, LKT1D raised $11,126 this season for JDRFNC.

Because of Kunin's passion and commitment to bettering the lives of youth and families facing disease, he was the Sharks nominee for the 2024 King Clancy Memorial Trophy. The award is given annually to the NHL player who best exemplifies leadership qualities on and off the ice and who has made a significant humanitarian contribution to his community.

Sharks left winger Anthony Duclair launched the Anthony Duclair Foundation (ADF) during the 2023 NHL All-Star Weekend in Florida while he played for the Florida Panthers. With a commitment to make hockey more inclusive, combat racism within the sport, and grow the game, its mission is to ensure that Black, Indigenous, People of Color (BIPOC) children are granted safe and equal access to playing hockey in North America. In February 2024, the ADF with the support of the NHL and NHL Players' Association's Industry Growth Fund announced an initiative to demonstrate a resolute commitment to fostering diversity and growing hockey in South Florida. The project involved the construction of a 100'x50' synthetic outdoor rink at Boyd Anderson High School in Lauderdale Lakes where 85% of students belong to minority communities. This initiative aims to provide a new avenue for sports and recreation, introducing the thrill of playing hockey to students who may not have had this opportunity otherwise. The project extends beyond the rink, incorporating programs that teach the fundamentals of hockey, teamwork, and sportsmanship.

Throughout the season, the Sharks Foundation worked with ADF to host under-represented youth at select games, providing tickets, parking, a food and beverage credit, and a post-game meet-and-greet with Duclair, Giovanni Smith and Justin Bailey. Understanding how powerful representation is in hockey, the goal of these visits was to provide inspiration and connection for diverse youth hockey players and their families.
