GAME NOTES

THINGS YOU SHOULD KNOW

- Tonight is the first of two games the Stars will play against the Canadiens this season and the only time the two teams are facing off in Montreal this year. The two teams will next face off on Jan. 16 in Dallas.
- Tonight is also the third game of a five-game road trip that will see the Stars play the Rangers, Flyers, Canadiens, Senators and Maple Leafs. It is the team's longest road trip of the season.
- Dallas' 26 wins this year are its second-most wins through 40 games of a season (also 2005-06 & 1998-99), behind only 2015-16 (28) according to NHL Stats.
- The Stars have won four of their last five contests against the Canadiens. Dallas has also won five consecutive games at Bell Centre (5-0-0) dating back to Oct. 30, 2018, outscoring Montreal 20-11 in those games.
- Arttu Hyry has gone 10-for-14 at the faceoff dot in his first four NHL games for a 71.4 percent success rate. This includes going a perfect 6-for-6 in his NHL debut on Jan. 2 against the Ottawa Senators.
 - His 71.4 percent success rate at the faceoff dot ranked seventh in the NHL entering play Friday among NHL skaters that have taken at least 10 draws since Jan. 2.
- Miro Heiskanen is averaging 25:19 of ice time per game this season, which was the fourth-most in the NHL this year entering play Friday.
- Entering play Friday, the Stars and the Washington Capitals were the only NHL teams this season that have not lost more than two consecutive games.
- The Stars have allowed only 2.50 goals against per game this season, which was the best mark in the NHL entering play Friday. Dallas has allowed two or fewer goals in 23 of the 40 games that they have played this year.

GOING STREAKING

- The Stars enter tonight's matchup against the Canadiens having won each of their last six games played dating back to Dec. 29 at Chicago. A victory tonight would give the team their first seven-game win streak since they won eight consecutive games from March 16 to April 3, 2024.
- A Stars victory tonight would also make Dallas the fourth team this season to have a win streak of at least seven games, joining the Carolina Hurricanes, Florida Panthers and Winnipeg Jets.
 - The Jets are the only team to have two separate winning streaks of at least seven games this season.
- If the Stars were to win tonight, it would also give them five consecutive wins to begin a calendar year for the second time in team history and for the first time since 2006, when the team kicked off the new year with six straight wins, according to NHL Stats.
- Dallas' six-game winning streak was the longest active winning streak in the NHL entering play Friday.
- A win or an overtime loss tonight would also extend the team's point streak to nine games for the first time since the team had a point in 12 consecutive games from Oct. 29 to Nov. 25, 2019, posting an 11-0-1 record during that span. It would also make them second team this season to have a point streak of at least nine games, with the other being the Washington Capitals.
- Dallas' eight-game point streak was also the longest active point streak in the NHL entering play Friday.
