TOP NOTES

As a result of his goal, JJ Peterka has tallied 11 points (6+5) in his last 10 games, including eight points (5+3) in his last six home contests.

Dylan Cozens picked up the primary assist on Peterka and Alex Tuch's goals and the secondary assist on Henri Jokiharju's game-winning goal.

Cozens' three assists in tonight's game matched his previous career high. He has now registered nine points (2+7) in his last six games against Anaheim, including at least one point in each of his last three home games against the Ducks (1+5).

Owen Power's assist on Peterka's goal gave him one assist in three consecutive games. It marked his fifth assist streak of three or more games this season.

With his goal, Tuch has collected nine points (4+5) in his last six games. Tuch has recorded seven points (3+4) in six games against the Ducks as a member of the Sabres.

Tuch's goal was his 20th of the season, which marked the fourth time he has reached the 20-goal mark in a single season in his career.

Jokiharju's goal gave him one goal in back-to-back games. It marked the first time he had recorded a goal in consecutive games in his career. The goal was the third game-winning goal of Jokiharju's career (Oct. 12, 2024 vs. Florida; Feb. 17, 2024 at Minnesota).

The Sabres are now riding a six-game home winning streak and their win tonight gave them a win in six straight home games for the first time since Nov. 3 to 27, 2018 (six games).

Including the above home winning streaks, Buffalo has earned six straight home wins four times since 1999 (Jan. 17 to Feb. 15, 2007; Nov. 28 to Dec. 15, 2014).

Tonight's win marked just the 15th time in Sabres' history that Buffalo trailed by two or more goals entering the third period of a game and earned a regulation win. It was the first time the Sabres had done so since Nov. 24, 2023 vs. Pittsburgh.
