AT A GLANCE

TIME MACHINE

Drew Doughty skated in his 94th career Playoff contest in Game 4 at Crypto.com Arena and is set to play in his 95th Stanley Cup Playoff game tomorrow night against the Oilers, breaking a tie with Luc Robitaille (94 GP) for the second-most post-season games played in franchise history. Doughty, who played 28:33 of Sunday's Game 4, has consistently logged heavy minutes throughout postseason competition. The London, Ontario native currently sits in eighth place all-time for most games played with at least 25:00 of time-on-ice, having done so 82 times. The only other active defenseman to play 25 minutes or more for as many Stanley Cup Playoff games is Vegas' Alex Pietrangelo, who has done so 83 times dating back to 2011-12. Since the NHL began tracking ice-time in the 1997-98 season, Doughty (27:50) ranks seventh all-time for average time on ice in the playoffs among skaters who have played in a minimum of 30 postseason competitions.

EXTRA JUICE

Forward Adrian Kempe enters Game 5 averaging a point-per-game (3-1=4) through the first four matches of the series, including his third career multi-goal game (2-0=2) in Game 2 on Wednesday (also Game 1 of 2023 R1 & Game 5 of 2022 R1). Kempe, who shares the team-lead in points with Quinton Byfield (0-4=4), is the first Kings player to net at least one goal in each of the team's first two games from the start of a post-season since 2014 (Trevor Lewis & Jake Muzzin).

KING OF KINGS

Anze Kopitar skated in his 95th career Stanley Cup Playoff game on Friday night, breaking a tie with Luc Robitaille (94) for sole possession of the most Playoff games played in franchise history. Spread over nine post-seasons and 17 different Playoff series, the captain has registered 80 points (25-55=80) in those 95 contests, trailing only Robitaille (41-48=89) and Wayne Gretzky (29-65=94) for the franchise record for most points in the Stanley Cup Playoffs. Kopitar scored his first goal of the Playoffs in Game 2 for the third career overtime game-winning goal of his post-season career, surpassing Wayne Gretzky (2), Alec Martinez (2) and Butch Goring (2) for most playoff overtime goals in franchise history.
